IT STARTED WITH A HANDSHAKE

It started with a handshake. Two visionaries, Bill Bowerman and his University of Oregon runner Phil Knight, thought they could do a better job of designing and selling shoes to runners. They were right. Today Nike is the world's leading innovator in athletic footwear, apparel, equipment and accessories. Along the way, Nike helped the world's best athletes win races, games and championships.

WE LEAD WITH INNOVATIVE PRODUCT

True innovation isn't just new and different. It's new and better. It's surprising. Sometimes it's shocking. Nobody does that better than Nike. Yet we know you can't anoint yourself as innovative the consumer ultimately decides that for themselves. That's why we spend so much time with athletes and consumers listening, observing, studying and then creating products that enhance athletic performance and overall consumer experiences.
